ASSOCIATE OF SCIENCE IN MANAGEMENT

Program Overview

The Associate of Science (AS) in Management offers students the best of Yeshiva University ð a rigorous Jewish and business education and an embracing community of staff and students. As a result of a carefully planned curriculum, students gain the skills and knowledge needed to succeed in a data-rich, digitally-connected global business environment. Upon graduation, students will be prepared to continue their education at the Bachelorûs level or to pursue professional opportunities. As part of the AS in Management, students enroll in YUûs dual-curriculum; students take a full Jewish studies program in addition to their management courses. Jewish tradition provides the framework for consideration of ethical issues, an integral part of the Universityûs curriculum.

Students are taught by distinguished faculty holding positions in research and professional communities and who offer students a thorough background in theoretical and practical aspects of management. Because students hail from a wide geographic area, they have an opportunity to broaden their knowledge through experiences that will help them thrive in the global environment.

Menûs programming is facilitated through the uptown Wilf Campus, while womenûs programming is centered at the Beren Campus in Midtown Manhattan.

UNDERGRADUATE JEWISH STUDIES

The guiding vision of Yeshiva University – that the best of the heritage of contemporary civilization and knowledge is compatible with the ancient traditions of Jewish law and life – is embodied in the University's dual curriculum of general and Torah studies. In addition to the general studies curricula leading to the degree of Associate of Arts or Associate of Science at the Katz School, students concurrently participate in Jewish Studies programs with Yeshiva University undergraduates.

Intended to deepen ethical and philosophical insight and values, and to broaden textual skills and analysis, these programs also offer valuable training in research methods and opportunities for independent work. Students often forge life-long religious and spiritual relationships with faculty, Rebbeim, Mashgichim (spiritual guidance counselors), and fellow students.

Women in the AA in Liberal Arts or AS in Management programs participate in the Undergraduate Jewish Studies program on the Beren Campus. Men in the AA in Liberal Arts or AS in Management programs participate in the Undergraduate Torah Studies program on the Wilf Campus. Requirements for both campuses are listed below.

Beren Campus: Undergraduate Jewish Studies

The Jewish Studies programs at the Beren Campus, offered through the Rebecca Ivry Department of Jewish Studies, are designed to expose students to the beauty of Torah study and the richness of Jewish tradition. We offer valuable training in rigorous thought, exposure to research methods and opportunities for independent work. Students learn across a curriculum that includes courses in Bible, Hebrew language, Jewish history, Jewish philosophy and Judaic law. To learn more, visit: https://www.yu.edu/stern/ug/rebecca

Connected Device Policy:

We understand that cell phones and other digital devices are part of the fabric of our daily lives, and that they can assist with safety and communication, but they can also be a distraction to the learning process. Therefore, unless sanctioned by a faculty member (or the Office of Disability Services) for an appropriate academic or other relevant purpose, personal electronic devices (e.g., cell phones, apple watches, air pods, etc.) should be set on silent mode and/or stored during instructional time.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY POLICY

Academic Integrity

The submission by a student of any examination, course assignment, or degree requirement is assumed to guarantee that the thoughts and expressions therein not expressly credited to another are literally the student's own. Evidence to the contrary will result in appropriate penalties, described below.

Cheating on Written Exams

Cheating is an affront on academic integrity and ethics. Any instance of dishonesty undermines your work and the work of classmates and the institution in which the offense was committed.

Plagiarism

In defining plagiarism, this policy distinguishes between Intentional Misrepresentation and Misuse of Sources. These are two clear extremes, but this policy also recognizes that there can be a continuum between them.

Intentional Misrepresentation occurs when a student deliberately uses someone else's language, ideas, or other original (not common-knowledge) work without acknowledging the source. Examples include but are not limited to: a) Assignment is downloaded from an Internet source and/or obtained from a paper mill; b) Assignment is obtained from someone else (including another student); c) Assignment contains part or all of the writings of another person (including another student), without acknowledgment of the source; or d) Assignment contains passages that were cut and pasted from an Internet source, without acknowledgement of the source.

Misuse of Sources

3. If the student accepts responsibility for the action, then appropriate academic sanctions will apply including, but limited to, a retake of the exam, reduced credit or zero on an exam, reduced final grade or failing grade, or resubmit assignment paper.

The YU College Level Test in Jewish History

YU has developed examinations in Jewish History that test the studentôs knowledge of the political, social, economic, and cultural currents in the history of the Jews from the Second Commonwealth to the Modern Era. There are three examinations: Classical, Medieval, and Modern Jewish History, any one of which may be taken for credit.

The tests are prepared and read by Yeshiva University Jewish Studies faculty and are graded on a scale of 1 (low) to 5 (high). Scores of 4 or 5 earn 3 credits for each examination in lieu of the equivalent college course. Neither credit nor exemption is granted for scores of 1, 2, or 3. Credit is only awarded if the exam is taken while the student is still enrolled in high school.
For further information about this examination (including a suggested reading list), consult with your high school guidance office or with the course coordinator.
