

Yeshiva University values the adjunct members of the faculty and strives to maintain an employment policy that is transparent and equitable.

After consulting with Department Chairs and in consultation with the Provost, Deans are responsible for hiring adjunct faculty, setting the level of compensation, and establishing workload requirements. All adjunct faculty appointments must be reviewed annually; this should include the evaluation of the teaching skills/effectiveness of the person by means of peer evaluation, student evaluations, and so forth at least once per academic year. The dean and the appointing department shall provide adjunct faculty with reasonable and adequate notice of projected teaching assignments prior to the start of class.

An adjunct faculty member may be appointed by more than one college, subject to the following:

- Adjuncts may normally teach no more than 7 credit hours at one time which exceeds three months. An equation of 2.75 hours X class period is used to determine the credit hours per class for purposes of benefits.
- Adjuncts may combine teaching and other work in at Yeshiva University but may not exceed the combined equivalent of working 19 hours per week at any one time period which exceeds three months.
